the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office for National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 85 and over has increased by 0.5 million.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for ageing, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on the following assumptions: (1) that older people are a heterogeneous group with diverse needs; (2) that older people should be able to live independently and actively; (3) that older people should have access to the services and support they need; and (4) that older people should be treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on the following principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

This year's prom was a night of dancing, socializing, gabbling, looking great and for one night living the great quotation, "Viva Las Vegas!"

Right:

The prom theme for the 2007 prom was Las Vegas. It seemed perfect for the committee to borrow Vegas's popular slogan of "What happens in Vegas stays in Vegas."

It's almost certain you won't.

If you think you'll lose,
you've lost;
For out in the world you'll find,
Success begins with a fellow's will,
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you are outclassed, you are,
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.

Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man,
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the man who thinks he can."

Below: Freshman Patrick Monfort became the number two butterfly for the Boybers this season.

Freshman Victor Gutwein takes his mark for the 200 freestyle race. He also swam the 100 breaststroke this season for the Boybers.

Freshman Kyle Whitaker and Junior Adam Straitquatter await the start of the 400 freestyle relay. Kyle made the consolation finals at sectionals in the 100 breaststroke.

Senior diver Shayn Molenaar performs a difficult back double during a dual meet. Shayn placed 11th at sectionals in diving.

Junior Alex Scheurich swims the last 50 of the 200 IM during a dual meet. Alex finished third in the consolation finals of the IM at sectionals this year.

Left: Freshman Matt Phillips swam the 500 freestyle during a dual meet. Matt often had to pull a tough double: the 100 free and 500 free back to back.

Right: Freshman Ben Schaerich and Senior Kyle Goss got each other pumped up for the 400 freestyle relay. Ben made the consolation finals at sectionals in both the 50 and 100 freestyle and placed first and second.

PIONEERZ

Pioneerz is a program to teach elementary kids drug awareness. A select few of our high schoolers go to fifth grade classrooms to talk with the kids about how they may be exposed to drugs.

The Pioneerz play and do activities with the kids and find out if drugs are affecting their life. The Pioneerz are assigned to rooms where they talk with the kids about future pressures and how drugs can harm them. The goal of Pioneerz is to educate the kids now so they can make better decisions later in life. A teacher nominates every Pioneer, but you can also volunteer to get involved.

I'm only asking if you remember...

Our theme for this year is a recognition of our role in the lives of the student. This yearbook serves as a historical record, a collection of photos that will stir countless memories (both good and bad), but most all, a reminder of the people with whom we shared a small part of our lives. Some will become lifelong friends, some will be forgotten, and there are those whom we only wish we could forget.

There are the thrilling victories and the heartbreaking defeats, both on the athletic field and in the classroom. The courses we hated. The endless assignments. The finals that had us waking up in the middle of the night.

The triumph of taking high school's best shot, and coming out on the other side.

Let us also remember the fun times we'll always carry with us. Crazy students doing crazy things, from doing backflips during homeroom to camping on the school lawn. The gossip told on one end of the school, and instantly heard on the other. The million things our parents and teachers can never know about.

We hope you think of these things whenever you flip through the dusty pages of your high school yearbook.

It's our history, and we have tried to help you remember.

Bernard J. Sell
CHAOS Faculty Adviser

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995. The public sector has also become an important employer of women, with 5.5 million women employed in the public sector in 1995, compared with 4.5 million in 1980.

There are a number of reasons why the public sector has become an important employer of women. One reason is that the public sector has become an important provider of social services, such as health care, education, and social housing. Another reason is that the public sector has become an important provider of social security, such as unemployment benefits and pension schemes. A third reason is that the public sector has become an important provider of social services, such as health care, education, and social housing.
